

Alto

Autumn

Adapted from Autumn: An Ode
 by Samuel Johnson, 1709-1784

Transcribed from The Evangelical Harmony, 1800.

D minor
 Daniel Belknap, 1800

♩ = 120

8 'Twas spring, 'twas summer, all was gay; The flowers of spring are swept a -
 Oh what re-mains, what in-gers yet, To cheer me in the dark - 'ning

12 way; Now au - tumn bends a clou - dy hour? The grape re - mains, the friend of 16 brow, And sum - mer's sweets de - sert the bough.

 wit, In love and mirth of migh - ty power.

22 Now na - ked and de - formed are seen The mea - dows late - ly dressed in Sitll, still the jo - cund stream shall flow The pulse with vigorous rap - ture green; The groves and fields are dis - ar - rayed The song - sters of the wood have fled.

 beat; My Stella with new charms shall glow and ev - 'ry bliss in wine shall meet.